European Certificate in Essential Palliative Care (ECEPC)

Developed at Princess Alice Hospice in 2001, over 15,000 European candidates have now completed this highly respected qualification.

The course is offered both nationally and internationally and North London Hospice are proud to work alongside Princess Alice as a local site.

ECEPC is a nine-week distance learning, multi-professional programme, suitable for doctors, nurses and associated healthcare professionals who have direct contact with patients requiring a palliative approach.

All candidates are provided with an extensive course handbook, access to a comprehensive virtual learning site and are assigned a facilitator to support them through the course.

Topics covered include:

- What is palliative care and who is it for?
- Symptom issues in palliative care
- Patients with emergency conditions
- Breaking bad news to patients and families
- Bereavement and support
- Common ethical issues

Summer School Workshops

Celebrating its 10th anniversary our ever-popular summer school returns for another year.

For young adults, finding experiences and learning opportunities when exploring potential career paths can be difficult. North London Hospice are therefore pleased to deliver this interactive workshop run during school holidays which allows learners to experience the work environment of the hospice, meet members of the health care team and enhance their CV.

Please note: there will be no direct contact with patients during this experience due to the nature of this healthcare setting.

We work with two companies: Premed Projects and Medic Mind who will be happy to advise about suitable experiences.

Training for Care Homes

The vast majority of training featured within this brochure is not only applicable, but essential for care home staff. Whether it's upskilling individual nurses to act as palliative care leads, a group training day in communication skills, or a series of bitesize training sessions in the stages of end-of-life care, there is something for everyone!

If your care home has specific requirements, we are happy to meet and discuss training options and programmes to suit your needs and budget. We have helped many care homes from large nursing home groups to small independent residential units develop their skills and empower their staff to provide exceptional care.

Communication Skills in Healthcare

- Effective communication skills are fundamental to providing high quality care for people approaching the end of their lives and to properly support those close to them. There is, however, much evidence to suggest that the healthcare workforce lack confidence and skills when discussing end of life care. This foundation study day explains the importance of good communication, explores barriers to and methods of communication and culminates in the opportunity to practice dealing with difficult conversations.
